Last Meeting & Notes

Last Meeting (2nd October):

Make Ups = None.
Leave of Absence = None.
Visitors = Les Marton (RC of Monash), Trish Carr (RC of Monash), Gill James & Adriana Telley.

This week our guest speaker was Les Marton from the Rotary Club of Monash who gave us an interesting presentation on the history of the Concorde. Les first saw this beautiful aircraft in 1963 when he was 10 years old in a French magazine, and from that time on he was hooked on aviation, having spent 26 years as a commercial pilot.
Rotary Four Way Test

"Of the things we think, say or do:

1. Is it the Truth?
2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

History

- February 1953 Arnold Hall Director of the Royal Aircraft Establishment (RAE) approached Morian Morgan to form a committee for the purpose of studying the feasibility of Super Sonic flight, the committee delivered their findings in April 1954. They recommended to shelve the project as they did not have the proper design for a wing that would facilitate the flight of such an aircraft.
- Not long after Joanna Weber and Dietrich Kuchmann, who worked at RAE published a series of reports on a new wing design, known as the "Slender Delta Concept" together with Eric Maskell they worked tirelessly to come up with a wing design. In 1956 they began to develop a practical and efficient means of supersonic transport.
- 1960 Pierre Sartre Sud Aviation’s technical director went to England (BAE – Bristol Aviation) for a meeting to discuss a possible partnership. Eventually the British French alliance was formed between Briston Aviation and Sud Aviation.
- The name CONCORDE was adopted after long discussion between the Brits and French Meaning Harmony or accord
- Finally, the first two prototypes were being built for completion - 001 French variant on 2nd March 1969 and 002 English variant in 9th April 1969. At a cost of 1.13 billion pounds
- Concorde finally went into service on the 21st January 1976

Power Plant & Frame

- Engines - Olympus 596 MRK610 /Sneccma – 7 stage compression turbo jet engine with after burners similar to a fighter plane
- The thrust was 32,000 lbs each with re heat.
- Due to the air intake being 1340 mph – the engine required computer operated baffles to slow the airflow to 560mph
- Multiple companies were employed to manufacture different parts of the aircraft
- Including the main fuselage section which was milled (sculpture milling) from a solid Copper/Alum Alloy making the aircraft stronger and lighter – there were no bolts used
- A special paint was developed to tolerant the heat generated at supersonic speed of between 92 degrees C to 127 degrees C at the nose in an outside environment of minus 67 degrees.

Flight

- Operated by 3 in the cockpit – Captain, First Office and Engineer whose job it was to manage all the onboard systems like fuel to maintain the aircraft in stable flight
- Take off speed was 250 mph on a runway distance of 3600 mtrs
- Wing Span 25.6 mtrs overhaul length was 61.66 mtrs, height of above the ground 12mts
- At Supersonic speed it would grow between 3 to 12 inches or 7.5 cm to 30 cm.
- Landing speed 170 mph
- Wing area 358.25 square mts
- Max speed 2.04 mach (1354 mph 2179 kms)
- Ceiling cruise 60,000fts /18.3 kms
- Rate of climb 10,000 fts/min
- Fuel consumption 110 litres a minute or 92,400 litres per 3.5 hours (London to New York Flight)
- Max fuel 119,280 litres (31510 gls)
- Max taxi weight was 187,000 kgs

The Accident

- The Concorde had only one fatal accident in its 27-year history on the 25th July 2000. It had completed 50,000 flights and carried 2.2 million passengers
- The aircraft hit a piece of metal debris that fell off a Continental Airline DC10 that took off earlier, resulting in a piece of tyre hit the underneath wing tank which ruptured the wing fuel tank but this was not what bought the aircraft down it was an engine failure which stalled the aircraft and it was not able to maintain flight and consequently crashed 90 seconds into the flight at Gonesse killing 109 passengers and crew and 4 people on the ground

- This accident did not halt the Concorde flying – cost of running the aircraft was the main reason for its demise.
- The Concorde service was eventually terminated in 2003 due to escalating costs and lack of passengers, - Air France's last flight was the 31st May 2003 and BOAC'S last flight was the 24th Oct 2003.

Signature Project 2020

Dear Members,

As the President has previously announced, with the consolidation of accumulated funds from the merged clubs, the Board has agreed in principle that we should embark on a major Signature Project in 2020. For this purpose, we propose allocating around $25,000 - $30,000. The intention is that this project should go beyond supporting on an ongoing basis, all of the traditional activities of the merged clubs.

As yet no formal criteria for the project has been established, but the intention is that it should have a major impact in our community and also lift our profile as a modern and vibrant Rotary Club, within the cities of Monash and Kingston.

The first step is to brainstorm member input on detailed objectives and Project ideas. We will have this on the agenda for detailed discussion at our meeting on Wednesday 9th October.

Then all Committees and individual members will have the option / obligation to develop PROJECT PROPOSALS for consideration by the Board at the meeting scheduled for Wednesday 27th November.

The Board looks forward to your enthusiastic input to the development of this project, and RotaryOCH doing something special next year, that we can all be proud of.

So, get your thinking caps on!

Joke of the Week

A blonde lady was about an hour from San Diego when she was flagged down by a man whose truck had broken down. The man walked up to the car and asked, “Are you going to San Diego?” “Sure,” answered the woman, “Do you need a lift?”

“Not for me. I’ll be spending the next three hours fixing my truck. The problem is I’ve got two chimpanzees in the back which have to be taken to San Diego Zoo. They’re a bit stressed already so I don’t want to keep them on the road all day. Could you possibly take them to the zoo for me? I’ll give you $100 for your trouble.”

“I’d be happy to,” said the blonde. So, he carried the chimps to the woman’s car and strapped them into their seatbelts and off they went.

Five hours later, the truck driver was driving through the heart of San Diego when suddenly he was horrified to see the blonde walking down the street with the two chimps, much to the amusement of a big crowd. With a screech of brakes, he pulled off the road and ran over to the blonde. “What the heck are you doing here?” he demanded. “I gave you $100 to take these chimpanzees to the zoo.”

“Yes, I know you did,” said the blonde, “but we had money left over, so now we’re going to Sea World.”

6 humanitarians honored for their work with refugees

By Rotary International

Six humanitarians who are members of the family of Rotary are being honored as People of Action: Connectors Beyond Borders during the 2019 Rotary Day at the United Nations, which focuses this year on the global refugee crisis.

The annual event, being held at the UN’s headquarters in New York, USA, on 9 November this year, celebrates the vision for peace that Rotary and the UN share. Through Rotary’s long history with the UN, its members have helped people affected by war, famine, and disaster.

Today, the number of refugees worldwide is the highest it has been since World War II. The six honorees — five Rotary members and a Rotary Peace Fellow — are all people of action who have found community-based solutions to the refugee crisis.

Bernd Fischer
Club: Rotary Club of Berlin, Germany

Project: Integration of refugee women into German society

Description: Fischer, a retired diplomat, is coordinating Rotary clubs in Europe and the U.S. on a grant project to integrate 240 refugee women into German society by helping them overcome cultural and language differences that hinder their participation in daily life. The project has already trained 100 women with children and has provided mentoring in their own languages, job training and placement assistance, and child care when they need medical and psychological treatment.

Lucienne Heyworth
Rotary connection: Rotary Peace Fellow (Uppsala University, 2015-17)

Project: Education curriculum in times of emergency, focused on the Middle East

Description: Heyworth developed an “education in emergencies” curriculum to provide instructional materials that can be used in makeshift learning spaces to teach people displaced by conflict. Such spaces create critical safe places for entire communities, where families can fill other basic needs like food, hygiene, and health. Heyworth, who was a teacher before she developed her expertise in providing education in areas of conflict, has focused her work in the Middle East.

Ilge Karancak-Splane
Club: Rotary Club of Monterey Cannery Row, California, USA

Project: Education and integration project in Turkey for Syrian refugee children

Description: After visiting several refugee tent camps in Turkey, Karancak-Splane organized Rotary clubs to provide 1,000 pairs of children’s shoes and socks for families in the camps in 2017. Recognizing that the children also lacked access to schools, Karancak-Splane and her Rotary club launched a global grant project to help educate refugee children.
Hasina Rahman
Club: Rotary Club of Dhaka Mavericks, Bangladesh
Project: Nutrition services for Rohingya children in Bangladesh
Description: Rahman, assistant country director of Concern Worldwide, has mobilized Rotary clubs and partner agencies to raise funds for and construct an outpatient therapeutic center that provides lifesaving preventive care and nutrition services for children and pregnant women who have fled to the Cox’s Bazar refugee camp in Bangladesh to escape violence in Myanmar. The center has screened more than 500,000 Rohingya children and helped more than 7,000 severely malnourished children. Staff members and volunteers have learned about feeding infants and young children, and refugee families have received information in their own language about breastfeeding and proper hygiene.

Ace Robin
Club: Rotary Club of Mataram Lombok, Mataram, Indonesia
Project: Disaster relief and housing for people displaced by earthquakes
Description: Robin has led her club’s and community’s efforts to provide assistance to people displaced by a series of earthquakes in the Lombok region of Indonesia during 2018. She served as the contact person for ShelterBox, aiding in the delivery of 915 units of temporary housing near Lombok. She and her fellow club members brought water, food, and other necessities to people who were displaced and distributed teaching materials, uniforms, shoes, and bags for students. Robin remains involved in the long-term recovery efforts.

Vanderlei Lima Santana
Club: Rotary Club of Boa Vista-Caçari, Roraima, Brazil
Project: Humanitarian aid to Venezuelan refugees
Description: Santana has led efforts to welcome and care for thousands of Venezuelan refugees arriving in northern Brazil because of desperate economic conditions in their country. Santana’s club has been working with the government and nonprofit organizations to coordinate the distribution of meals and vaccines to more than a thousand refugees who are living in streets or makeshift shelters in a plaza near the local bus station. They also provide professional development assistance and help the refugees find places to sleep.
